China Says U.S. Patrol Plan in Viet Nam a Plot

By JOHN RODERICK
TOKYO (AP) — Communist China today called U.S. proposals for guarding the South Viet Nam-Cambodia border with United Nations patrols a plot to expand American aggression in Indochina.
"U.S. aggressors must get out of South Viet Nam; they must get out of Indochina," a Peking radio broadcast quoted a Peking People's Daily editorial as saying.
Replying to U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson's declaration May 21 before the U. N. Security Council, the Chinese said: "China absolutely cannot allow the United Nations to be drawn into the situation in Indochina."
The Red Chinese rejection was spelled out in an editorial by "Commentator," and otherwise unidentified but high-ranking official.
Stevenson proposed that the Security Council request Cambodia and South Viet Nam to establish a military force to patrol the frontier which South Viet Nam controls.

Nikita Leaves Nasser With Loan Promise

By GEORGE SYVERTSEN
CAIRO (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev ended a 17-day visit to Egypt today after warming up the farewell with a promise of a $277 million loan for President Gamal Abdel Nasser's second five-year plan.
In return, Nasser gave Khrushchev a wholehearted endorsement of Soviet foreign policy, including the Kremlin's views on peaceful coexistence.
A joint communique by the two leaders placed the Egyptians squarely behind the Soviets in the struggle between Peking and Moscow for influence in Africa's new nations.
Cheering workers, given a half holiday, jammed the airport for Khrushchev's departure, and upwards of 2,000 troops and security men were on hand. Nasser gave his guest a warm embrace. A 21-gun salute boomed out as the Soviet leader waved before entering his airplane.
Khrushchev's departure was delayed an hour and a half, but the reason was not announced.
The joint communique was made public after a final banquet Sunday night in the gardens of former King Farouk's luxurious Kubbah Palace.
Khrushchev said the Soviet Union had decided to help the United Arab Republic with its second economic plan, which begins next year.
He said the assistance would include a steel plant with an annual capacity of one million tons and a 10,000-acre model farm where Soviet techniques would be used to reclaim the desert. He left it to Nasser to tell the cheering crowd the amount of the aid.
Terms of the loan were not disclosed, but it was presumed that they called for repayment over 12 years at 2.5 per cent interest. The previous $500 million in Soviet credits to Egypt was on this basis.
The United States has supplied Egypt with $750 million in assistance in the last 10 years.
The U.S. State Department warned last fall that further U.S. assistance was imperiled by Nasser's intervention in Yemen's civil war and the Senate tacked a rider onto the foreign aid bill barring aid to countries "engaged in or preparing for aggressive military effort."
In the Khrushchev-Nasser communique, Nasser defended the "legitimate right of the Cuban people to defend their sovereignty" after Khrushchev warned that U.S. reconnaissance flights over the island could have "most fatal consequences for those who undertake such gambles."
Both leaders denounced "attempts to torpedo the Geneva agreements of 1962 with regard to Laos," but they did not say whether they thought the United States or Communist China was responsible for the crisis in the Southeast Asian kingdom.
Nasser endorsed the Soviet Union's bid to attend the coming meeting of Asian-African states as an Asian power. Red China says the Soviet Union is predominantly a European power and should be barred.

Joe Keesey, valedictorian of the 1964 Hope High School graduating class, was the recipient of the American Legion Good Citizen Award. He will enroll in Southwestern College, Memphis, and will major in science.

Ann Arnold, salutatorian, received the Bausch Lomb Science Award. She will enter the University of Arkansas this fall to major in the sciences. Ann and Joe have the highest grade-point averages of any students to have graduated from Hope High School. This is because of their having taken heavy electives in math and science.
The 131 members of the class will receive diplomas at the First Baptist Church Monday night, May 25.

Yule Lights Badly Needed Downtown

Hope is badly in need of new Christmas lights. The present ones are almost worn out. A committee met Friday morning at the Chamber of Commerce working on plans for purchasing lights. Various civic clubs were represented.
Under consideration are lights to cover the downtown district as follows—Second Street-Hazel to L F A Railroad, Walnut from front to Third, Main from front to Third and Elm from front to Second. The cost of the project will be $500. The City Water and Light Plant crew will assemble the strings which has reduced the original cost to the figure of $2500. This is a savings of about $1400.
The purchase must be made by June 15 to avoid an increase in price therefore there is an urgency about raising the funds. Clubs represented at the meeting were the B & P W Club Federation of Garden Clubs, Junior Auxiliary, Jaycees, Rotary, Lion, Kiwanis, and Jaycees.
Forrest Singleton, president of the Retail Merchants Promotion Association, suggested that these clubs contact 100 merchants, businessmen, and citizens and secure a $25.00 contribution or more from each to raise the $2500.00. They agreed to confer with their clubs immediately to get the project launched. It was suggested starting next year if a pledge of $1.00 per month per business was secured. Hope could not only maintain the lighting indefinitely, but could add to it each year.

Virginia Co. Ordered to Reopen Schools

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ordered Prince Edward County, Va., today to reopen its public schools on a desegregated basis by next September.
County education officials closed the schools in 1959 to avoid court-ordered admission of Negroes.
The Prince Edward racial controversy has been fought in state and federal courts since May, 1951. It was one of the original school desegregation cases decided by the Supreme Court on May 17, 1954.
Justice Hugo L. Black delivered the court's main opinion today.
Justices Tom C. Clark and John M. Harlan noted they agreed with the reasoning in Black's opinion, but disagreed with the holding that federal courts are empowered to order re-opening of the county schools.
Black said the case would go back to U.S. District Court in Virginia "with directions to enter a decree which will guarantee that these petitioners (Negroes) be admitted to the schools."

Hope Girl Joins the Peace Corps

Sherrie Hankins

(Editor's Note: The following article about Miss Sherrie Hankins of Hope appeared in the Northwest Arkansas Times at Fayetteville. The article was written by Pat Donat of the Times staff.)
A goal which began three years ago when the Peace Corps was founded will be realized for Sherrie Hankins who will teach school in Liberia as a volunteer, following graduation from the University this month.
A native of Hope, the attractive, 21-year-old, blond says it is not difficult to explain why she chose the Peace Corps but she does find it difficult to explain why she has turned down well-paying positions to become a volunteer where she will receive food and clothing and a $1,400 stipend at the end of the two-year period.
"Joining the Peace Corps has been in the back of my mind ever since it was founded," she explained, "but it wasn't until I talked to the Corps recruiting team here on the campus that I really made up my mind."
"It is not through a sense of missionary zeal I am going, but it offers a challenge and I only hope I can meet it," she stated.
"In the Peace Corps," she continued, "you aren't confined to a single occupation and have to learn to live under adverse conditions, just as your native co-workers do. One of the volunteer's primary purposes is to remove the 'ugly American' image so prevalent in many countries today. By words, attitudes and deeds volunteers interpret America," she further explained.
The vivacious young woman, a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority feels that anyone joining the Peace Corps must have ideals but emphasized that volunteers are not "just a bunch of starry-eyed idealists." She stressed that only those who are "practical can make a go of it."
Miss Hankins, who at this point does not know if she will teach school in the capital city of Monrovia, Liberia, is continuing on Page Two

Soccer Fans Riot in Peru, Death Toll May Be 500

By THOMAS J. STONE
LIMA, Peru (AP)—A stampede of 45,000 spectators in a Lima sports stadium after police fired tear gas at rioting soccer fans left hundreds dead today in possibly the worst sports disaster in history.
Authorities still were unable to come up with an official count of victims in Sunday's tragedy. Lima's La Prensa said 260 bodies were counted. The newspaper Expresso said 315 were killed. Hundreds were injured.
Many blamed the tear gas for the frantic rush to the exits, and a government statement, taking note of this, declared:
"It was necessary for the police to use tear gas in an attempt, however unfortunately futile, to prevent further disorder. The government is deeply concerned over the fatal results that originated in a trivial incident that the riot erupted after the game."
This was a reference to the a fan jumped from the grandstand to protest a referee's decision in the soccer game between Argentina and Peru. The teams were meeting for the right to play in the Tokyo Olympics.
The crowd had witnessed a close contest with neither side able to score in the early action.
After 15 minutes in the final period, Argentina scored the first goal. Within minutes of the final goal, the Peruvians sent the ball into the net.
The crowd roared. But the referee refused to allow the score, saying Peru had committed a foul.
Fans screamed in protest. The Peruvian players continued to play, although they also protested the decision.
The clock ticked on. Only moments were left when a spectator jumped out of the lower-priced seats and raced across the grass toward the referee.
Police cornered the fan and dragged him off. Other spectators poured onto the field.
The referee called off the game. Police escorted him off the field. The players headed for the dressing rooms.
Termination of the game only excited the fans more.
"They threw seat cushions and bottles and anything else they could lay their hands on," said a witness.
Nothing could stop the mobs dashing in frenzy for the exit gates, still closed because of the sudden end of the game.
Body upon body was crushed and stomped in the dash to escape. Men, women and children died, in the stands and at the exits.
Traffic around the stadium in the center of the city was jammed for hours. Mounted police charged the crowds outside in an effort to keep order.
Hoodlums looted the pockets of some of the victims. They also snatched watches and other valuables.
Under the stadium lights, survivors and police went to the aid of the injured and tried to sort out the piles of dead. The injured were sent to hospitals in ambulances, taxis, and commandeered cars and trucks.
Many persons blamed the police use of tear gas for starting the panic.
Outside the hospitals, mobs assembled, shouting denunciations of the police. "Revenge," they screamed. "Down with the police."
The government suspended individual liberties — a modified form of martial law — in an attempt to prevent further rioting. It also proclaimed a week of national mourning.
On the crushed chests of some of the bodies were the deep purple imprints of the curtain-like metal exit gates.
Doctors at the hospitals said most of the victims suffocated.

Baptists to Outline Their Beliefs

By TOM SEPPY
ATLANTA CITY, N. J. (AP) —North American Baptists ended an unprecedented convocation here with a "message to the world" outlining the beliefs of their members.
The three-day 150th anniversary jubilee, which brought together for the first time representatives of the seven largest Baptist groups in North America, ended Sunday after an address by evangelist Billy Graham, who called for a religious revival to obtain equal rights for all Americans.
The Baptists stood "as an affirmation of our belief" in approving the message, drafted by key leaders from each body.
Areas covered included salvation, religious liberty and freedom, the importance of the individual, Christian love for all men and belief in the Bible. It also included mild and brief statements on race relations.
The message did not specifically state that Baptists believe in the absolute literal truth and divine inspiration of the Bible. This is a point of controversy among Baptists.
Graham told the jubilee: "Many people today want social freedom and deserve it. They are marching for it, demonstrating for it, picketing for it. But they will not get it in this decade or the next unless we have a religious revival and convert the people to Jesus Christ."

China Says U.S.

Chinese troops have crossed in recent weeks in pursuit of Communist Viet Cong units. He said this bilateral force should be augmented by, and possibly commanded by, U.N. observers. Alternatively, he suggested formation of an all-U.N. force to which the United States would be willing to contribute. U.S. advisers contend the Communist Viet Cong openly use Cambodia as sanctuary before and after raids on South Viet Nam.

The editorial broadcast by Peking radio said: "These proposals by Stevenson are becoming increasingly blatant. They are designed to draw the United Nations, which is under U.S. control, into territories close to and thus to draw the U.N. into the contaminated South Vietnamese war."

of Monrovia, or in the interior, confesses she has qualms about going to a strange country, but says her greatest concern is how she will meet the situation and "hold up under it."

Though she has never lived under primitive conditions, and admits she is the first to complain if everyday conveniences, such as hot water, are unavailable, she indicates she is not concerned about this part of the venture.

"None of the returning volunteers complain about living conditions," she said, "but some feel frustrated because they see no dramatic changes during their assignment."

She requested Africa because it seems to present the biggest challenge and will be working directly for the Liberian Department of Education. The volunteer teachers take the place of native teachers who are completing their studies so the general level of education in the country can be upgraded. "At the present time some of the teachers have only an eighth grade education," Miss Hankins remarked and said that improvement cannot be expected overnight.

Reds Walk Out on UN Discussion

By MAX HARRELSON
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Top representatives of the Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia walked out of a U.N. Security Council meeting today during a speech by South Viet Nam Ambassador Vu Van Mau.

There was no explanation for the move, but it seemed clear they intended their action as a snub of the South Vietnamese government which the Communists do not recognize.

Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko went to the delegates' coffee room. Low-ranking members of the Soviet and Czechoslovak delegations remained in the council chambers, but read newspapers during Mau's speech.

Fedorenko and Czechoslovak Delegate Milos Vejvoda also remained away during a speech by Nationalist China's Yu Chi Hsueh.

The South Vietnamese representative told the council "systemic and premeditated" border violations by the Communist Viet Cong were the real cause of the difficulties between Viet Nam and neighboring Cambodia.

Mau proposed a two-point program to end the trouble. He suggested a U.N. commission of experts to define the frontier between the two countries and a system of joint Vietnamese-Cambodian patrols to prevent Cong incursions.

Cambodia already has rejected the idea of a joint patrol, but Mau renewed the proposal as the 11-nation council resumed its debate on Cambodia's charges of aggression against South Viet Nam and the United States.

After she made up her mind to apply as a volunteer she had to convince her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hankins, who were understandably reluctant to have their daughter embark on this difficult, self-imposed adventure.

"I hate to leave my family and friends for such a long period," she admitted, "but feel it will be a worthwhile venture."

In June she will start on an eight-week orientation course, although it will take place at some American University, the site has not been announced.

The course is strenuous, she says, and students put in a 60-hour week. She also said that while the physical requirements are rigid anyone who passes the examination required for acceptance can do the physical requirements.

Courses in language will also be given, and while English is the official language in Liberia, there are many dialects that must be learned. Instructions will also be given in the history and culture of the country. A review of American history is also included, Miss Hankins explained, "because it is frequently found that people in foreign countries know more American history than Americans do."

gro students) will get the kind of education that is given in the state's public schools."

Black added that, "If it becomes necessary to add new parties" to the lengthy litigation to accomplish the purpose ordered today, the federal court in Virginia "is free to do so."

The U.S. District Court in Virginia, Black said, has power to order the public schools opened if such an order is "required to assure these petitioners (Negro students) that their constitutional rights will no longer be denied them."

The time for mere "deliberate speed" has run out, and that phrase can no longer justify denying these Prince Edward County school children their constitutional rights to an education equal to that afforded by the public schools in other parts of Virginia," Black stated.

Says 50 Cents Could Be Big Money Saver

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—A special assistant to President Johnson said here Sunday that an investment of 50 cents to prevent mental retardation could save the state $100,000.

Dr. Stafford L. Warren, special assistant on mental retardation, gave a rundown on the economics of mental retardation to the 7th annual meeting of the Arkansas Association for Retarded Children.

He said a medical condition known as pagnylketonuria (PKU), which results in mental retardation, can be discovered in a newborn child through a test. If discovered, a child with the condition can be put on a special diet which prevents mental retardation from developing.

Warren said that although the test for PKU is available, only two states, Massachusetts and New York, have made its application mandatory.

Massachusetts has found the cost of giving Guthrie test for PKU costs only 50 cents per child and when one PKU victim is discovered it represents a savings of $100,000 to the state—the cost of lifetime institutionalization of a PKU victim, he said.

He said Arkansas would have to spend about $22,500 a year to test all newborn children for PKU. Based on the birth rate, he said, as many as seven victims could be discovered each year and mental retardation in them prevented.

Besides saving about $700,000 on the seven, the state could "save" even more because children in which mental retardation is prevented become self-supporting and pay taxes on their earnings.

The two-day meeting of the Arkansas group ended Sunday.

Mrs. Bertha Goldman West, 46, of Pine Bluff was killed Sunday in a two-car collision on U.S. 79 at Pine Bluff. Police said she was in a car driven by her son, James C. West, 18. It collided with another car driven by Thomas M. Tyler, 17, also of Pine Bluff.

Bishop to Emcee the Emmy Show

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Comedian Joey Bishop, who has emceed bar mitzvahs, Italian weddings and Ed Sullivan testimonials, will officiate tonight at his first revolution—the 16th annual Emmy Awards.

The show will be telecast over NBC-TV — 10-11:30 p.m. EST. Both CBS-TV and ABC-TV have boycotted it officially.

CBS and ABC charged that too much bloc voting influenced selection of winners. A CBS statement accused the National Broadcasting Co. of buying television Academy memberships for employees.

An NBC executive, however, countered that all networks pay for employee memberships, either directly or indirectly.

Bishop, whose show was recently dropped by NBC and picked up by CBS, will emcee at the Hollywood Palladium. E. G. ("The Defenders") Marshall, another CBS star, will officiate on the New York end of the show.

Republicans Get Set for Convention

By LARRY OSIUS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans gathered here today to complete arrangements for their 1964 convention and ponder whether a new statement by Dwight D. Eisenhower would influence that convention's choice of a presidential nominee.

The former president called Sunday for "responsible, forward looking Republicanism" and a candidate who would carry out that program. But he did not name any names, and he repeated that he does not intend to dictate the convention's choice of a nominee.

The convention arrangements committee's main job today was to pick a slate of officials acceptable to backers of all the major potential nominees.

Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, a moderate, and Gov. Mark Hatfield of Oregon, generally considered a liberal Republican, were the likely choices for permanent and temporary chairman respectively.

The position of keynote speaker was still up in the air.
Rep. William E. Miller of New York, the GOP national chairman, has considerable backing for the job, but he said Sunday night that he does not want it.

There also were reports that Hatfield would be proposed for the dual role of temporary chairman, to open the convention, and keynote speaker, to deliver the quadrennial indictment of the opposition party.

Backers of Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., an active candidate for the presidential nomination, indicated they would oppose such a move.

Many committee members were more interested in Eisenhower's statement in a copyright New York Herald Tribune story than in convention arrangements.

The big question was: Had the former president's statement helped or hurt the chances of any of the potential nominees?

Miller had no comment. Other party leaders who are not openly backing any of the candidates seemed to think Eisenhower had knitted a blanket big enough to cover all of them.

F. Clifton White, co-director of field operations for Goldwater, said "the general is just reiterating Republican principles. I am sure the general is not going to participate in any stop movement or any gang up movement on any other Republican."

John Wells, national director of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's campaign, said, "It appears to me that Rockefeller sits right in the middle of Gen. Eisenhower's statement."

Retired Gen. C. T. (Buck) Lanham, active in the campaign to draft Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge for the nomination, said Eisenhower's statement of GOP principles fits Lodge and could cover Rockefeller or Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania as well.

Harold E. Stassen, an announced candidate, said in Philadelphia: "We needed these words from him (Eisenhower). I hope he takes an increasingly active role in the crucial 1964 decision of our Republican party."

It was a nice little club on Euclid Avenue in Cleveland. You know the kind — with dim lights, fancy furnishings, and stiff prices. The attraction was a blues singer named Lola Crane. She was about five feet seven and 120 pounds. Every pound of it was in just the right place. Her hair was honey-colored. I'd discovered her by accident the second night I was in Cleveland. I'd been back several times, but this was the first night I could relax and really enjoy it.

The name's March. Milo March. I'm an insurance investigator with my own office in New York. I'd been in Cleveland a week, working for the Security Insurance Company. It was a small outfit that gave me a job maybe once a year. This time it had been some broad who had killed her husband and thought she was going to collect his insurance.

He had been listed on the police files as a victim of a hit-and-run accident. That meant the widow collected double. Then about two weeks after the accident, a clerk for the insurance company drove down her street on his way home from a night out with the boys. It was three o'clock in the morning. It just happened that he was the clerk who was processing her claim.

He noticed the lights on in her house and thought he saw a couple dancing in the living room. He didn't think that was the way for a brand-new widow to act, so the next morning he reported it.

The company asked a few questions. The widow said there wasn't any party; it was just that she was so upset she had to call her doctor. He verified that he'd been there and said he'd had to give her a sedative. The only thing that bothered the company, after they thought about it for a while, was that he was the same doctor who had signed the death certificate.

They got a court order, had the body dug up, and an autopsy performed. The husband had been killed by a car all right — he'd been run over three or four times — but he was also full of enough morphine to have kept him unconscious for a week.

It had taken me a week to wrap the case up, and the doctor and the lovely widow were both locked up.

Lola Crane was just finishing her final number when I beckoned the waiter.

"Ask Miss Crane if she'll join me for a drink."

He shook his head. "I don't think she will, sir. She doesn't do that sort of thing."

"Why don't you ask her and find out?" I suggested. I slid a five-dollar bill across the table.

He hesitated a second, then scooped it up. He turned and went to meet her.

I was pretty sure she'd come. I was sure that curiosity would get to her. I had sat at that same table alone every night I'd been in Cleveland. It was near enough to the small stage so that she couldn't have helped seeing me.

I'd been right. She listened to the waiter and then came directly to my table. I got to my feet.

"I'm glad you came, Miss Crane," I said. "I wanted to tell you how much I've enjoyed your singing. Won't you join me for a drink?"

"Thank you," she said. "I went around and held the chair for her."

I couldn't think of an excuse for lingering so I went back to my chair. My name is Milo March."

"Hello," she said with a smile.

The waiter came over and looked at her.

"Bourbon and water," she said.

I ordered it for her and another for myself.

"You've been here almost every night for a week," she said. "Why?"

"I'm from New York. I just arrived in Cleveland a week ago. I happened to wander in here the first night and liked what I heard—and saw. So I've come back. I'm leaving tomorrow."

He said Fulton County had not reported. Holders of the receipts can vote this summer in a federal election. Franklin and Scott counties each reported no free receipts issued. Madison reported 1, Dallas 6, Arkansas 9, Searcy Phillips and Stone 12 each.

it you could see the entire floor of the night club and everything that went on. But, I remembered, when you looked up from the floor what you saw was a big section of what seemed to be a mural on frosted glass. It was one-way glass.

"I can see him," the man said. "Get outside, Rocks. I'll call when I want you." He waited until the door closed behind me. "Sit down," he said then.

I sat down in the chair beside his desk, facing him.

"Look," I said, before he could start, "I gather you have some sort of speech to make to me. Before you start, I have one of my own. If you ever want to see me again, send me a nice invitation, not some goon who starts giving me orders."

"I'm Nick Potti," he said. "You're Milo March, an insurance dick."

"Gee, that's pretty good."

"This is the fifth night you've been here," he said. "Each night you sat at the same table — alone. This ain't the kind of club where a guy comes alone. I want to know what you're doing here."

"Enjoying myself — up until now. I stopped in the first night and thought you had a good singer. So I came back."

"I noticed. You were talking to her, too. What about?"

"I like girls. And I like girl singers. Is it against the law for a man to talk to a girl in this town?"

"You come all the way from New York just to see a broad?"

I looked at him and laughed. "Now I get it. You have cop fever."

"Cops don't bother me," he snapped. "I'm clean."

"I'll bet," I said. "Well, relax, Potti. I came out here a week ago to work on a case for an insurance company. If I finished the case today and I was planning on going back to New York tomorrow — unless you get me so interested I decide I'd like to work for nothing."

He stared at me for a minute. "All right," he said. He reached under his desk with one hand. I didn't hear anything, but the door opened and he came out.

"Yeah, boss?"

"Take Mr. March back to his table and tell Emily his check is on the house for tonight."

"Don't do me any favors," I said, starting for the door. "I can pay my own way."

"You heard me, Rocks," he said flatly. "And March..."

"Oh?" I said. "Do you own the big guy looked in."

"Yes?"

"Stay away from my singer."

'DEAR ABBY'

A LOT OF SCRATCH!

B. Abigail Van Buren

Dear Abby: I love flowers. For many years my tulips have taken prizes. Last year some new neighbors moved to the north of us. They keep chickens. But their chickens are not cooped up or fenced in to keep them on their own property so every morning those chickens head right for my bulbs. So far I have had about $200 worth of fine imported bulbs scratched up. I don't want to fence in my property because it will ruin the looks of it; neither do I want to start a feud with my neighbors. Have you any suggestions?

LOVES FLOWERS

Dear Loves: I assume you have already complained to your neighbors. If you have, and were ignored, ask your lawyer to write them a letter pointing out their legal responsibilities. If that doesn't work, you may have to sue. Two hundred dollars worth of bulbs is not chicken feed.

Dear Abby: When a child must go to the hospital for tonsillectomy operation and the mother is unable to go, isn't it all right for the father to go instead? A friend of mine right out of the blue asked me

Men's Magazines Off Sale List

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Rev. Woodrow W. Smith of Mabelvale said today that eight men's magazines to which he is opposed have been taken from Little Rock magazine stands.

Smith, a Methodist minister, said Siebert News Agency had taken the magazines out of circulation.

The magazines are Gent, Swank, Modern Man, Bachelor, Cavalcade, Gentleman, Sir and Ace, he said.

Smith, district director of Christian Social Concern of the Methodist Church, announced on May 18 that a group was being formed to get the magazines out of circulation.

His announcement came after a court test in Pine Bluff where the same magazines were banned under Act 261 of 1960.

The act declares material obscene which appeals to prurient interests.

"You heard what I said; stay away from her."

how I could have stayed away from my child at a time like that. She said nothing in the world could have kept HER away if it had been her child. She hurt me terribly when she said that. Abby, I have small children at home and no one to leave them with, and things beyond my control made it impossible for me to go to the hospital that day. Did I do wrong?

HURT
Dear Hurt: No. Your friend was just blabbing and unmindful of the hurt she was causing — at least if she is a GOOD friend.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter's girl friend has asked me daughter and four other girls to be her bridesmaids. She made it clear that each girl was expected to pay for her own gown. The bride and her mother picked out the gowns without asking any of the bridesmaids for an opinion about price. Both my daughter and I were shocked when we found out how much the gowns cost. This bride has very expensive tastes, which she herself cannot afford. I think if the bride wants her bridesmaid to wear such expensive gowns she should pay for them. My daughter says she would rather turn down the honor of being a bridesmaid than complain about the price. To give you an idea of how overboard the bride went, each dress is $69.95, plus tax! And my daughter has never spent more than HALF that amount on even her best dress. I would like some advice.

WORKING MOTHER
Dear Mother: Since the price of the gown is more than twice what your daughter would ordinarily spend on a gown, I think she would show good judgement to decline the "honor."

Confidential to "E": If you let a man know that you believe him to be faithful, it will help to keep him that way. Call a man a cheat and you give him ideas.

Dick Stuart, whose glove sometimes beats Boston, now has come close to whipping the Red Sox with his bat.

The Boston slugger's bat put Kansas City ahead with a home run in the first game of a doubleheader Sunday.

Then Stuart clouted a grand slam home run for a 4-2 victory. He came back with a two-run homer that gave Boston a 3-1 triumph in the second game.

The home run that put the Athletics into a 2-1 lead actually was hit by Jim Gentile, who had borrowed one of Stuart's bats.

The big first baseman's grand slam off Moe Drabowsky in the eighth inning broke a 2-2 tie. It was his first homer since April 25 when he also smashed a grand slam. He also connected with a man aboard in the fourth inning of the nightcap, giving him four this season.

Stuart's average is only .230, but he has 23 runs batted in, third best in the American League. Last year he hit 42 homers and drove in 118 runs.

Of five scheduled doubleheaders in the AL, Baltimore had the only other sweep, beating Minnesota 2-0 and 7-6. Chicago downed Washington, then lost 3-0 while New York defeated Los Angeles 8-5 after dropping a 3-0 decision. Detroit got by Cleveland 7-5. Rain washed out the second game.

In the National League, Pittsburgh swept San Francisco 3-0 and 5-3. Milwaukee took two from St. Louis 7-1 and 10-0. Cincinnati knocked off Chicago 6-5 and 13-4. Los Angeles blanked Philadelphia 3-0 and Houston shut out New York 3-0.

Stuart's blast in the opener emboldened Jack Lamabe, who came to Boston from Pittsburgh with the first baseman, to win his fifth game in six decisions. Rookie Ed Connolly won his first major league game in the nightcap with relief help from Bob Hanner and Dick Radatz.

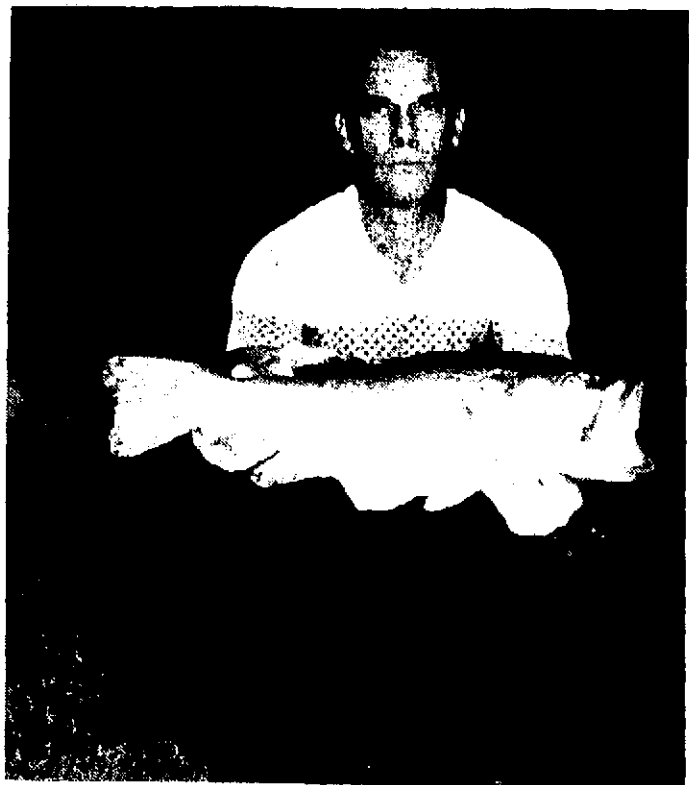

The Orioles were on the verge of losing the second game when they struck for three runs in the ninth. Jerry Adair's homer, a walk, an infield hit and an error brought home the tying runs. Then Luis Aparicio knocked in Jackie Brandt with a sacrifice fly.

Harmon Killebrew socked a two-run homer for the Twins in the eighth, tying the game 4-4, and Tony Oliva connected with one on in the ninth.

Robin Roberts set down the Twins on five hits in the opener, reducing his earned run average to 1.88 on a 2-2 record.

game winning streak until Buster Narnum limited them to six hits in the second game. The Senators gave him two runs in the first on singles by Don Blasingame, John Kennedy and Chuck Hinton and Don Lock's sacrifice fly.

Pinch hitter Floyd Robinson doubled with the bases loaded in the eighth, driving in two runs and bringing the White Sox from behind in the opener. J. C. Martin's sacrifice fly accounted for a third run in the inning. The Senators had taken a 4-3 lead in the eighth on Kennedy's single and Hinton's double.

Mickey Mantle sparked the Yankees to their second-game triumph after Dean Chance blanked them on three hits in the opener. Mantle homered in the second, then triggered a four-run rally in the sixth with a two-strike bunt. The Yankees trailed 5-2 going into the inning. Ed Kirkpatrick hammered a two-run homer for the Angels in the second.

Los Angeles actually won the first game in the first inning. Billy Moran doubled home Lee Thomas and Bob Rodgers, then scored on a double by Tom Satriano.

Dave Wicksham received relief aid from Larry Sherry and became the first AL pitcher to win six games. The Tigers led 7-2 when the Indians struck in the seventh. Four singles scored two runs and brought on Sherry, who ended the threat after another run scored.

Braves Sweep A Pair From the Cardinals

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

"Boy, are you fat!" Warren Spahn exclaimed nine years ago when Joe Torre first appeared in a Milwaukee dressing room, accompanied by big brother Frank, then the Braves' regular first baseman.

Spahn didn't get an argument—the younger Torre, at 15, weighed 40 pounds—but today the Braves' pitching ace would be the first to admit that the fattest thing about Joe is his .370 batting average.

On the other hand, if you had asked Bobby Bragan Sunday, after Torre's hitting rampage led the Braves to a 7-4, 10-0 doubleheader sweep of St. Louis, the Milwaukee manager would have told you that Joe is the fattest commodity in the game.

"He's the most valuable piece of baseball property today," Bragan said, following Torre's 7-for-10 spree that lifted him from seventh to third position in the National League batting derby. "I wouldn't trade him for anybody, not even Willie Mays, because I'd be giving up eight years."

Torre's current streak lends weight to Bragan's claim. The catcher-first baseman, whose three-week spring holdout led both leagues, has hit at a .418 clip since May 1, raising his average 79 points from .291. He hit his fifth and sixth home runs of the month Sunday for a total of 9—five less than his 1963 output.

While Milwaukee closed to within 1 1/2 games of the NL lead, Pittsburgh and Cincinnati kept pace with double victories. The Pirates stunned San Francisco 3-0 and 5-3; the Reds downed Chicago 6-5 and 12-4. Los Angeles employed Sandy Koufax in relief to nail down a 3-0 victory over Philadelphia and Houston blanked New York 5-0 in a night game.

Baltimore won an American League doubleheader from Minnesota 2-0 and 7-6; Boston beat Kansas City twice, 6-2 and 3-1, and Detroit won its opener from Cleveland 7-5 before rain washed out the nightcap. New York split with Los Angeles, losing the first game 3-0 and winning the second 8-5, and Chicago defeated Washington 6-4 before bowing 3-0 in the afterpiece.

Torre singled four times in the Braves' first-game victory, credited to Spahn, and drove in two runs. His two homers and a single—good for three more RBI—backed Denny Lemaster's three-hit pitching in the nightcap.

The Brooklyn native has 54 hits, second in the league, and is third in RBI.

Pittsburgh southpaw Bob Veale stopped San Francisco on two hits and fanned seven Giants in the opener for his fourth victory. Rookie right-hander Tom Butters drove in three Pirate runs in the second game and recorded his first major league victory with help from relievers Bob Priddy and Al McBean.

Mays had one hit in five at-bats and his batting average fell from .400 to .393.

Boston Wants Broad Jump Record Back

Associated Press Sports Writer
By JACK STEVENSON

MODESTO, Calif. (AP) — Ralph Boston serves notice he wants the world broad jump record back from Russia's Igor Ter-Ovanesyan this Olympic year.

In the 23rd renewal of the California Relays Saturday night, Boston smashed his own American mark and came within three-quarters of an inch of taking back the world mark.

The former Tennessee A&I star now competing for the Southern California Striders leaped 27 feet 2 1/2 inches with a six-jump average of 26 feet 8 1/4 inches — the average equalling the best jump ever by Jesse Owens.

Boston, named the outstanding athlete in the meet, wasn't overjoyed as he explained, "I fell short of what I expected to do. I was aiming to get my world record back."

Boston was the first man ever to jump 27 feet and held the world record at 27-1 1/4 until the Russian went 27-3/4. However, Ter-Ovanesyan never has beaten the U.S. Olympic champion in head and head competition.

The wind was only 1.6 miles per hour when Boston made his American record leap on his third jump. His series was: 6-6, 26-6 3/4, 27-2 1/2, 26-5 1/2, 26-8 1/4 and 26-8.

The mile run lived up to expectations as a tremendous duel between America's two premier runners at the distance with Dyrrol Burleson just catching Tom O'Hara to win in 4:00.2. The Oregonian trailed by five yards after the final turn but sprinted in to win his fifth triumph in as many races with the Loyola of Chicago star who set an indoor record last winter in New York. O'Hara was timed in 4:00.3.

Surprisingly in third place came 17-year-old Jim Ryun in his first major mile test. The junior from East High School in Wichita, Kan., finished in 4:01.7 and bested such established milers as Cary Weisiger, Bobby Seaman and John Camien.

A slow first lap kept the race from breaking four minutes and admittedly Burleson was running to win and not worrying about the time.

Houston right-hander Bob Bruce ran his record to 6-1, firing a four-hitter and striking out 10 Mets. Mike White drove in three runs with a first inning single and a double in the seventh.

Koufax, making his first relief appearance since 1962, quelled a Philadelphia threat in the seventh inning and the Dodgers whipped the Phillies for the first time in seven meetings.

Joe Moeller, the winner, allowed only one hit through the first six innings but faltered in the seventh when Johnny Callison led off with a single and Wes Covington followed with a double. Koufax retired the next three batters and gave up one hit the rest of the way.

Rookie Wes Parker cracked two doubles and a triple to pace the Dodgers' attack.

Travelers Lose But Hold Lead

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—The Seattle Rainiers pushed across a 10th inning run on a bouncing single and beat the Arkansas Travelers 2-1 in a Pacific Coast League baseball game here Sunday.

The winning pitcher, Wilbur Wood, scored the winning run after he drew a walk. The game-winning single was by Barry Shetrone.

Seattle took the lead in the first inning when Stan Johnson hit a single, stole second, went to third on catcher Pat Corrales' wild throw into center field, and scored on a sacrifice fly.

Thundershowers halted play in the bottom of the second, and the game was delayed nearly two hours.

Arkansas caught up in the third when Alex Johnson got the first hit off Wood, who scattered six hits over the ten innings. Johnson's single scored Bobby Malkmus, who had been walked.

The Travelers' loss went to Jack Kerrigan, who gave up only five hits in nine innings and was relieved by Len Clendenin after he walked Wood, the first batter in the tenth.

Arkansas split a Saturday doubleheader, winning 3-0 on a three-hitter by Gary Kroll, and

Jimmy Clark Dominates Trial Runs

By DALE BURGESS

Associated Press Sports Writer

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—If Scott Jimmy Clark dominates the 48th Indianapolis 500-mile Auto Race Saturday as he did the 10-mile time trials, he will start lapping the field about 15 minutes after the start.

While Clark was winning the Dutch Grand Prix Sunday in a campaign to repeat as world road racing champion, the fourth and final session of qualifications was run off at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway's 2 1/2-mile oval. It mostly was an exercise in futility.

There were four positions open in the 33-car Memorial Day field and after 21 drivers presented themselves at the starting line, the four best performances ranged from 151.2 miles an hour by Art Malone of Tampa, Fla., in the third Studebaker Novi to make the field, at 148.7 by Bill Cheesbourg of Tucson, Ariz., in a conventional front-engine Offenhauser.

The 150.8 record set by Clark in a rear-engine Lotus-Ford, in the opening hour of the trials May 16, was never approached in the subsequent sessions.

Except for outstanding performances by former winners Parnelli Jones and A. J. Foyt and by young Jerry Unser in a four-wheel drive Ferguson-Novis, the new rear-engine cars stole the show in the qualifications.

The front row in the line-up—Clark, Bobby, Marshallman and two-time winner Roger Ward—averaged 157.7 miles an hour. All drove cars with the new Ford racing engine mounted over the rear wheels.

Condition of York Is Better

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Medal of Honor winner Sgt. Alvin York was listed in very satisfactory condition today at Veterans Hospital, where he was admitted Friday for internal hemorrhaging.

Doctors stopped the bleeding several hours after the 76-year-old World War I hero was rushed here by ambulance but said he must remain in the hospital several days.

York lives on a mountain farm at Pail Mall, Tenn., about 140 miles northeast of here. He has been bed-ridden about 10 years and has been in and out of hospitals a number of times.

U.S. Sleuths Learn About Fireplaces

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. sleuths overseas have discovered that fireplaces can have ears.

One such fireplace was in the office at the residence of the American ambassador in Prague. Late last year State Department security men found a tiny radio hidden in the framework.

The midget transmitter, which could beam conversations in the room to eavesdroppers outside the ambassador's home, was described today as the most sophisticated device yet uncovered in a continuing check on attempt to spy against U.S. envoys abroad.

Over the past 15 years some 170 hidden electronic snoopers have been ferreted out of the offices and homes of American officials in foreign lands, mostly behind the Iron Curtain.

The bugging is still going on and so are searches by specially trained State Department security men. Their biggest find announced last week, was 40 microphones in the U.S. Embassy in Moscow.

The Soviet microphones were relatively crude as spy devices go. But they defied U.S. detection for 12 years because they were so deeply embedded in the walls of the embassy and because they sent their signals by wire, not radio.

The State Department has a 95-man security squad operating abroad, headed by a former FBI and Central Intelligence Agency officer, G. Marvin Gentile.

Some of the overseas investigators are engineering graduates who specialize in electronic counter-espionage. Others do personnel security work, such as checking the backgrounds of federal job applicants who have lived overseas.

In Washington, the State Department has a locked "chamber of horrors" room for display of captured gadgets. The

Betsy Rawls Wins Civitan Open Meet

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS (AP)—There was talk of how much home cooking does for you in golf — if it's done by your toughest rival — when Betsy Rawls won the $13,500 Dallas Civitan Open Sunday.

Betsy stayed with her pal, Mickey Wright, here while playing in the Civitan. And it was Miss Wright, the biggest winner in women's golf, with whom she staged a duel for the championship. She won the $2,100 first money by two strokes with a 72-hole total of 282.

"She just fed me too well," said Miss Rawls, the talkative ex-Texas from Spartanburg, S.C. "She stayed with me when we played at Spartanburg and I fed her blackeyed peas and other good stuff. So she beat me. Now I stayed with her here and she fed me so well I went out and won the Civitan from her."

Miss Wright just grinned. She wasn't worried too much anyway. She had taken second money of $1,550 with 284 and that put her more than $3,000 ahead of Miss Rawls in the money-winning race. Miss Wright now has $8,950 in seven tournaments while Miss Rawls, in second place, has $5,837.50 in nine.

Miss Wright, however, is behind her pace of 1963 when she won 13 tournaments and $31,600 — the all-time records for women's golf. At this time last year she had won five tournaments and $9,865. She has won four tournaments this year.

MADRID, Spain (AP)—Generalissimo Francisco Franco showed marked favor for Prince Juan Carlos de Borbon Sunday, apparently rebuffing the aspiration of Prince Carlos Hugo of Bourbon-Parma to occupy the Spanish throne.

Franco gave the grandson of Spain's last king second place on the reviewing stand, beside the army minister, during an annual military parade. The prince's wife, Princess Sophie of Greece, sat at Mrs. Franco's right in her box.

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (AP)—Two battalions of British troops are en route to this strife-torn colony, requested by Gov. Sir Richard Luyt to enforce peace between warring Negro and East Indian factions.

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP)—Heavy clouds forced cancellation today of the first rocket launching by the six-nation European Launcher Development Organization at the Woomera rocket range.

CAIRO (AP)—West German student Franz Huettenmeister, 26, went on trial today on charges of spying for Israel. Conviction could mean the death penalty.

11 State Cadets Will Graduate

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Eleven Arkansas cadets will be graduated June 3 from three U.S. military academies.

The Air Force Academy graduates will be John E. Shumaker, 23, of Bryant; Daniel S. Trial, 23, of Fayetteville; Larry J. Brantley, 22, of Port Smith and David A. Corbett, 22, of Walnut Ridge.

The U.S. Naval Academy will graduate Julius B. Dell, 23; Thomas H. Harris, 21 and Charles T. Higgins, 23, all of Little Rock.

security men are briefed on the latest advances in eavesdropping technology.

Armed with modern detecting equipment, the overseas investigators travel out of Frankfurt, Beirut and Tokyo headquarters to "sweep" official quarters in the more than 100 countries where the U.S. government has buildings. If Congress votes the money, they will set up other headquarters in Africa.

Even with the stepped-up program, the security men cannot be 100 per cent sure they have uncovered all the spy devices. It is a standard rule for U.S. diplomats, especially in Communist countries, to assume unfriendly ears are trying to listen in.

Just turning on a water faucet or blowing a hi-fi set is not enough to offset a secret listening device. Skilled monitors can still pick out the conversation.

The best safeguard devised so far is "secure," or bug-proof, rooms specially constructed in embassies. Talk is possible in these rooms-within-rooms without fear of eavesdropping.

The embassies are regarded as easier to keep free of bugging than diplomats' homes. That's because embassies have a 24-hour guard, while homes are often unattended or are visited by local people who could be agents.

When the security men do turn up a hidden gadget they face another problem: what secrets did the eavesdropper get? Also, they must check on what non-secret but still embarrassing information the snoopers might have picked up to use as blackmail against his diplomat victim.

Says Texas Thinking of Leaving SWC

DALLAS (AP)—The University of Texas is studying the possibility of a super athletic from the Southwest Conference, it was indicated by action of the Board of Regents and state sources Sunday.

The board, meeting at El Paso over the weekend, appointed a committee to study the possibility of the university with respect to intercollegiate athletics and to study all aspects of Southwest Conference membership.

The fact that Texas was placed on probation for violating the recruiting rules and the fact that Texas opposes a limitation on athletic scholarships were considered reasons for speculation that the school is thinking about quitting the SWC.

Athletic Director Darrell Royal has verified that a committee from the Board of Regents will look into the question of a super conference that would take in Arkansas, Oklahoma, Alabama, Texas A&M, Houston, Louisiana State and Texas Tech.

The Dallas Times Herald quoted Royal as saying it was obvious the committee would study the super conference possibility. He said "this is an exploratory move. The study will be done—but it is not only wise to look and see where November.

"We might call this the commencement day for the two-party system in Arkansas," he said. "I hope as a result of this meeting we will all start working together."

Later, at a GOP rally attended by about 200 persons, he said the Republicans would win because "of our organization and our stand on the issues before us."

"We are going to win because we believe in the things we know to be right and we will have those issues clearly presented to the people of Arkansas, and we will have victory in November," he said.

Meanwhile, none of the schools mentioned indicated that they knew anything about it.

Edelen Wins Place for Olympics

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP)—Bud- dy Edelen, who did his training swathed in five sweat shirts and got his coaching by mail, has secured himself a ticket to Tokyo and the 1964 Olympics.

The lanky, 26-year-old from South Dakota scored a four-mile victory in sweltering heat Sunday in the Yonkers marathon, finishing the 26 mile, 385 yard grind in 2 hours, 24 minutes and 25.6 seconds.

He won by almost 20 minutes, with Adolf Gruber, an Austrian, second in 2:44:11.4 and Johnny Kelley, Groton, Conn., who had won the event eight straight times, finished third in 2:44:46.4.

"The heat was murderous," Kelley said. "All credit has to go to Edelen. He might have cut eight or nine seconds off his time if it hadn't been for the heat."

The temperature went well into the 90s and a bright sun shone on the 128 starters. Only 37 had finished when the count was abandoned after four hours. The race was a triple-titled affair, serving at one time as the annual Yonkers run, the National AAU marathon championship and an Olympic trial, with the winner gaining a spot on the team that will represent this country in the Tokyo Olympics.

The other two Olympic marathoners will be chosen in Culver City, Calif., in July.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP)—Television re-runs present faithful viewers with problems not encountered in other entertainment areas.

Few television shows prove so utterly fascinating that viewers want to savor them a second time around. That is particularly true of comedy—where an important ingredient is the viewer's surprise—and in the action-adventure stories.

There may be some who can chuckle repeatedly at the surprised look on a lady's face—on "Candid Camera." Sunday night—when she finds that a cigarette she had just put into an ashtray had disappeared. This viewer didn't laugh the first time. Nor did I roar as did the studio audience at the anger of an earnest plumber puzzled by having beer run out of a leaky faucet and confronted with insults from the make-believe businessman who summoned him.

The second re-run problem for most of us viewers is that we are creatures of habits formed during the cold weather months. We sampled the network offerings last September and October, made our choices of preferred shows—and stuck with them.

It would seem that re-run time should give a follower of CBS' social work drama, "East Side, West Side," a chance to watch the ABC or NBC shows he missed. But it doesn't seem to work out that way.

The warm weather months however, are happy times for the baseball fans who can see televised games with their favorite teams.

Ed Sullivan had a mighty impressive list of guest stars on his show Sunday night — Duke Ellington, the great Lipizzaner horses, Michaelangelo's Pieta, the Beatles and more. But what kept me preoccupied was trying to figure out why the sponsor had announced George Fenniman in the commercial carrying a pitcher of ice to abate heat.

Some people who were having a cookout in what looked like their back yard. It just seemed it would have been easier to make it in their kitchen.

Tonight is NBC's well publicized "Emmy Awards" show. 10-11:30 EDT—and for the first time in the history of televised awards ceremonies, it will be more interesting to note who keeps away than who turns up.

Tusks of frozen mammoths found in Siberia are so well preserved that they still can be used industrially.

Goldwater to Get Test in Florida

By LARRY OSIUS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater's strength among Florida Republicans will be tested Tuesday in a primary that highlights this week's political schedule.

However, much of the political interest is on a race that won't be decided until June 2: The Arizona senator's battle with Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York for California's 36 Republican convention votes.

Other events this week include Tuesday's runoff primary in Oklahoma and Saturday's primary in North Carolina and a Republican convention in Mississippi, also Saturday.

The Republican National Convention arrangements committee meets here today to go over final plans and choose the three top convention officers.

Sen. Thurston B. Morton, R-Ky., and Gov. Mark Hatfield of Oregon appear to be the likely choices for permanent and temporary chairmen. There is strong support for Rep. William E. Miller of New York, the party's national chairman, to deliver the keynote address.

The Florida GOP primary is to decide whether a slate of delegates pledged to Goldwater and endorsed by him, or an unpledged slate, most of whose members favor Goldwater, will cast the state's 34 convention votes.

Either way the senator is assured a good bloc of votes. He also is expected to pick up Mississippi's 13 votes at that state's GOP convention.

At the start of the week, The Associated Press survey of first ballot votes showed this lineup:

Barry Goldwater 304

William W. Scranton 70

Henry Cabot Lodge 44

Nelson W. Rockefeller 40

Margaret Chase Smith 15

Attention on Job Phase of Rights Bill

EDITOR'S NOTE—In the 11 weeks of the Senate civil rights debate, scores of amendments have been proposed to clarify, strengthen or weaken various parts of the bill. One provision attracting a major share of the suggested changes is the equal opportunity provision. The following article, the second of a three-part series on the bill's provisions, explains the equal opportunity title and the voter rights provision as they stand now and some of the proposals for changing them.

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the 11 weeks of Senate debate and cloakroom bargaining on the civil rights bill, much of the attention has focused on the equal employment section.

It has attracted a large share of the scores of amendments proposed to change the bill.

The equal opportunity section, known as Title Seven, is one of two provisions which break ground for federal law. The other is the public accommodations provision aimed at discrimination in hotels and motels, restaurants and amusement places.

Republican and Democratic Senate leaders and administration officials have accepted a number of amendments to the job title as part of a whole package of changes. They hope the proposed changes will win the bill the two-thirds majority needed to break the Southern filibuster.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, chief author of the compromise package of amendments, is fond of pointing out there was no equal employment provision in the original civil rights bill submitted to Congress last year by the late President John F. Kennedy.

But Dirksen has said he can support its retention if his suggestions for changing it are accepted.

As the bill cleared the House, it would ban discrimination in any phase of employment or membership on the part of employers, unions or employment agencies on grounds of race, color, religion, national origin or sex.

It would apply to companies and unions with 100 or more employees or members in the first year, 75 or more in the second, 50 or more in the third, and 25 thereafter.

A five-member Equal Employment Opportunity Commission would be created to receive complaints.

The commission is directed to try to settle any complaint by conciliation and persuasion. But if those methods fail, it may bring an injunction suit to end the discrimination.

Dirksen's agreed-upon package of amendments would modify this so that the commission could call on the attorney general to bring a suit only if a pattern of discrimination existed.

In individual cases, the aggrieved person would have to file suit, although the attorney general would be allowed to intervene.

Under the House bill, the federal commission could allow a state or local agency to handle a complaint if it found that the agency was functioning effectively.

Dirksen's amendments would strengthen power of the states by giving them exclusive jurisdiction of any case for a specific period. Thirty-one states now have fair employment practices laws of some type.

Southern senators simply want Title Seven eliminated.

They argue that it would give the federal government far too much power to interfere in hiring, firing and promotions.

The voting rights section of the House bill, Title One, would extend the federal powers in this field contained in the 1957 Civil Rights Act.

It would require that identical standards be applied to all voters in elections for federal officials, provide that immaterial errors on registration forms must be disregarded, and require that literacy tests must be in writing unless the individual agrees to an oral test.

In voter discrimination suits brought by the attorney general under the 1957 law, the presumption is created by the 1964 bill that a sixth-grade education is sufficient to meet the literacy test.

The attorney general is allowed to request that a three-judge court be set up to hear such suits.

Southern senators bitterly attack the latter provision, contending it would allow the attorney general to shop around for a favorable court.

They also insist that the title constitutes an additional interference with the right of states to control their own elections.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Hugh Downs, the head man of NBC's "Today Show," somehow manages to crowd an incredible number of activities into his schedule.

He arises at 4:30 a.m., for his daily chores—host, interviewer, salesman, introducer, light conversationist — on the two-hour morning show, and moves on to his job of gamekeeper and chairman on the network's "Concentration."

He also finds time for flying lessons, French lessons, guitar practice, skin-diving, gun collecting, studying celestial navigation, carrying on a side-business that packages radio and television programs and commercial films, reading, and working for his favorite charity, the Mental Health Society.

Downs, 43, recently returned from a vacation trip to Europe and in August will turn actor briefly to play in a summer stock production of "Love and Kisses."

Downs admits that he does crowd an enormous amount of activity into each day, but insists that he accomplishes it through "my theory of procrastination."

"If there isn't time today, there is always tomorrow or the day after—so just put it off," he explains.

Although Downs does make some plans far ahead—he expects to sail across the Pacific next summer—such foresight is necessary because of his broadcasting work.

"I don't seem to have any long-range goal in life, and I don't believe I ever have had," he says. "I sort of go along with things and see what happens."

"The short-range goal, of course, is to safeguard my family's living standard. And, of course, it would be nice if that could be accomplished with less air time for me. That would give me more time to follow things in which I'm interested."

Downs, his attractive dark-haired wife Ruth and daughter Deirdre, 15, live in a mid-Manhattan apartment, a long walk away from Downs' studio. Son Hugh, 18, will soon be entering Ohio's Bowling Green College. Deirdre is interested in becoming an actress and will study dramatics this summer at Interlaken, Mich.

Faubus Not Old Hand at Cotton

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus, saying he "never knew what cotton looked like till I was nearly grown," took up the hoe and planted three rows of cotton on the State Capitol grounds here Thursday.

The 10-foot rows were planted running up and down hill, which agricultural experts would not advise (rain will flow unchecked through the ruts, washing soil away).

"The mark of a good farmer in the Ozarks was how he laid a straight corn row in hills," Faubus said. "I would sight between the mule's ears on a distant tree. I found out later that I should have followed the contour of the hill."

The question of whether a cotton allotment had been secured didn't seem to cause serious second thoughts.

"You may see Santa Gertrudis grazing out here next year," Faubus said.

Wallace Has Certainly Proved Point

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

Washington (AP) — Alabama's segregationist Gov. George C. Wallace has proved his point: There is wide opposition to President Johnson's civil rights bill to give Negroes equal treatment in many spheres of American life.

This is what he said he wanted to prove when he entered the presidential primaries in Wisconsin, Indiana and Maryland, where a victory would have let him capture their delegates to the Democratic National Convention.

He lost in all three in running against stand-ins for Johnson: In Wisconsin to Gov. John W. Reynolds; in Indiana to Gov. Matthew E. Welsh; and Tuesday in Maryland to Sen. Daniel B. Brewster.

But—in Wisconsin he got about 34 per cent of the Democratic vote, in Indiana about 30 per cent and in Maryland roughly 40 to 45 per cent.

His main appeal was against the civil rights bill—now stuck for 11 weeks in the Senate because of a Southern filibuster against it.

It is too soon to say what effect his showing, particularly in Maryland, will have on the bill. But it will fortify the Southerners who can say now with good evidence that they're not alone in wanting it killed.

If the supporters of civil rights can take any solace from the results of Wallace's three campaigns it is this: In all three states the majority of the voters were against him.

Probably very few of the people voting in these primaries have read the civil rights bill in its entirety or, if they have, could claim to understand all its legal implications.

Wallace combined his attack on civil rights with an appeal to those who see, or think they see, the encroachment of socialism in American life.

He said at one rally: "This bill would take over every home, farm, business, and labor union in your state. The left-wingers want to drive this country straight to socialism."

Knowing that liberals, favoring civil rights legislation, were against him, Wallace's appeal was to conservatives and racists. He said he expected to get a vote which would knock the liberals' "eyeteeth" out.

Always he argued the civil rights bill is an invasion of states' rights. Putting equal treatment for Negroes in double harness with states' rights was probably especially helpful to Wallace in Maryland.

That state has been up to its neck in the states' right issue. One of the cases in which the Supreme Court ruled out official prayers in public schools came from Baltimore. The Maryland House of Delegates has been reappointed by court order. And a federal court has ordered the state's congressional districts redrawn.

Last March, the Maryland Legislature passed a public accommodations law—the Senate's civil rights bill has a somewhat similar provision—prohibiting racial or religious discrimination by operators of restaurants, hotels, inns and similar eating and lodging places. It did not apply to bars, taverns or cocktail lounges.

On top of all this, there had been severe racial disturbances on Maryland's Eastern Shore, especially in Cambridge, where National Guardsmen last week used tear gas to disperse demonstrating Negroes.

All these factors had Maryland steamed up before Wallace ever got there. He didn't miss any bets in talking on the sore points. For instance, he brought in the Supreme Court's ban on official prayers or required Bible reading.

Early this month, preaching in a Baptist church, he asked, "Did you ever think the Bible would have to be bootlegged into the schools?"

Special Homes For Retarded

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Sen. Olen Hendrix of Prescott said Thursday perhaps mentally retarded patients should be assigned to special homes, rather than released to private nursing homes from the state hospital.

Hendrix was a member of the Public Health and Welfare Committee of the Arkansas Legislative Council, which completed its first inspection tour of nursing homes Thursday.

He noted that it cost the state $3.50 a day to keep such a patient in the State Hospital, but only $30 a month for nursing home care.

Hendrix said he doubted the wisdom of mixing mentally retarded patients with the aged in nursing homes. "It is not good therapy for the old folks" he said.

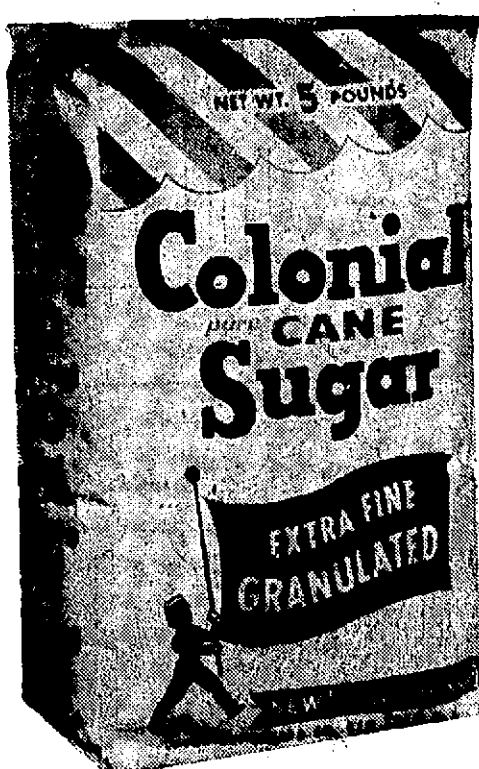

Hendrix also said the 1965 Legislature will be asked to provide money for a team of personnel to keep a check on former patients released to nursing homes. He said there is no such followup now.

The committee will make a full report to the council on nursing home conditions.

School Sites Money

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., said Thursday the Little Rock School Board would receive a $12,784 urban renewal grant for its "open space" land program. Schools Supt. Floyd W. Parsons said the money would be used to buy sites for schools.
